Paving Program Of City Drawing To Completion

The new paving contract in Canyon is practically completed, stated Mayor W. A. Warren. It was not possible to secure the approval of all property owners on Eighth Avenue to run the paving to 8th Street, which runs south in front of the school building.

Two or three blocks on 8th Avenue will only have curb and gutter, with caliche and gravel topping. The west end of the avenue will not be improved with any type of paving. However, most of this street has gravel, which was placed on the street several years ago.

Mr. Warren states that the contractor will leave a crew of men here for a short time for the purpose of finishing up curb and gutter jobs which are desired by the property owners. Mr. Warren advises all citizens who wish this crew to run curb and gutter along their property to leave word at the City Hall at once. This is an experienced crew, with all the necessary equipment to finish up the work promptly. However, the city must know immediately if other citizens wish this work done.

The city will have a considerable amount of patching done on the paving which has been down for some time. When the new water lines are put in there will be an additional amount of patching to be done. The city contemplates putting on additional men to do this work during the summer months.

Material for the water extension and for the new overhead water tank are expected at any time. Work should be started on this phase of city improvement as soon as the materials arrive.

No Opposition To Trustees in School Election

Seventy-one votes were cast in Canyon in the school election held Saturday.

While this is a small vote, considering the number of voters in this precinct, the turn out was larger than usual where there were no contests.

Wilford Taylor, Jr., and Dr. R. A. Neblett were elected to the Canyon Independent School board.

E. R. Cleavinger was elected member of the county school board from precinct one.

All of the returns from the common school districts were not in, but it appeared yesterday that there was no opposition to J. D. Barker, member-at-large on the county school board. Mr. Barker had received the unanimous vote of all districts which had so far reported. With his large support in Canyon it is indicated that he was the new chairman of the board.

Inspector Finds That Canyon Is Not Interested in Mail Delivery; Bids Are Asked for Sub-station

So far as the postal inspector is concerned, there will be no free mail delivery in Canyon at the present time.

J. W. Taylor, presenting the post-office department, completed his work here Friday. According to his report to Postmaster Guy Harp, the people are too luke warm regarding the delivery service. The percentage of those who favor this service is not large enough to justify the department in the additional expense which would be necessary to establish this service.

Upon investigation Mr. Taylor found that the present mail service is unsatisfactory for delivery due to the fact that trains arrive too late in the day to make it possible for free delivery service to give satisfactory service to the people.

So far as Canyon is concerned, the town is ideal for delivery service. Mr. Taylor was complimentary of the large amount of paving and sidewalks which are in Canyon.

The department recommends that a minimum of 2500 patrons shall be served under the delivery service. Under the survey taken by the Chamber of Commerce, the delivery service would not reach more than 2000 persons. While this survey shows that two-thirds of the population favor free mail delivery, the balance would not use the service.

While in Canyon Mr. Taylor investigated the possibility of a sub-station near the college. The department would not place such a station in the administration building, but if any business firm thought it could make enough out of the location of such a station to pay the expense connected with its installation and operation the department will consider a bid on such a station. Citizens are invited to make their bids to Postmaster Guy Harp. It is indicated that several business firms near the college are contemplating the cost of such a station. Bids will be sent to Washington for consideration.

Canyon, Texas

Dear Friends:

It is not many couples who have the privilege of celebrating this particular kind of anniversary and I join with your other friends in sending kind regards and very best wishes.

Sincerely,
Gene Worley.

Mr. Zoeller states that he and his wife greatly appreciate the many expressions of friendship by their friends in Randall county. Many of their old friends called upon them at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Geo. I. Taylor, on the wedding anniversary.

Chinese Relief Will Be Asked in Local Campaign

It was announced Monday that Dr. H. A. Brown, has accepted the chairmanship of the Canyon drive for funds for United Service to China, as part of a statewide campaign to raise $360,000 for the organization in Texas.

In accepting the appointment, Dr. Brown said that he was happy to be able to cooperate in a movement of which the honorary national chairman is Secretary of State George C. Marshall. National Campaign Chairman, he said, is former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, and chairman of the board of directors is Charles Edison. In Texas, honorary chairmen are Governor Beauford H. Jester, ex-Governor Coke Stevenson, and Nathan P. Adams of Dallas. Lamar Fleming, Jr., of Houston is campaign chairman of Texas.

Dr. Brown said, "I am confident that we will raise the money quickly. China is looking to the United States for assistance in the rehabilitation of its educational and medical facilities, and for the training of young Chinese men and women in western Democracy.. It is significant that the Chinese leaders who led the fight against Japanese aggression in Asia were, most of them, trained in U. S. schools and colleges or by American teachers in Chinese schools.

"Funds for the work," he explained, "were allocated from the National War Chest during the war years. Now that the War Chest has been discontinued, United Service in China has undertaken to raise and administer the sums needed for a continuance of sorely needed American aid in China. A total of $8,000,000 will be raised this year in the United States.

"United Service to China," he said, "gives support to some sixty carefully worked-out specific programs. These sixty programs can be broadly classified as, first, medicine and public health; second, education; third, relief, rehabilitation and reconstruction; and fourth, child welfare."

Details for raising Canyon's quota are rapidly nearing completion, Dr. Brown said.

Bobby Dowd, student at Texas A&M College, College Station, spent the holidays here visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dowd.

Editorials

No man can be a good officer in the armed forces unless he had been a good private. No one is capable of giving orders until he makes up his mind to obey orders. Those rash youthful student officers at A. & M. College should have learned this lesson months ago. To be demoted and disgraced in the eyes of the people of the state will hardly recompense for the plea of so-called freedom and liberty which the students sought in their rebellion against constituted authority. President Gib Gilchrist of A. & M. College may have made mistakes; he may not be the best suited man for the presidency of the college; the army officers in charge of military affairs at A. & M. College may not be suited to their jobs; but open revolt against constituted authority will never secure for these youths of A. & M. College, or in any other college, a complete change in which the revolters shall have supreme control of the situation. The constitution of the United States is based upon the rights of all citizens to be heard; but it expresses no sympathy for those who promote rebellion. Youth may think that it is being abused by the hard and fast rules which come from years of experience in handling situations in this old world of hard and fast rules and regulations. Perhaps you may wish to kick over the traces and desire to be allowed a free hand in handling these situations itself. When youth grows older it will wonder what manner of fool it was in making such demands; especially the barbaric right to haze underclassmen.

The public was somewhat amazed when John L. Lewis called his miners out for a week's holiday in mourning for those who lost their lives in the disastrous Centralia, Illinois, mine explosion. However, when it is revealed that miners usually take off several days at Easter, the industrial loss will not be as great as first contemplated. Most of the big manufacturing plants know the history of Lewis and were prepared for any sort of disturbance which he might raise. The disaster was probably uncalled for and could have been avoided with proper precaution. Lewis is blaming the government for the death of the miners; yet he has always stood for government ownership as opposed to individual ownership. We can see only one lesson in the unfortunate disaster: That no brass collar in Washington is capable of running industry or manufacturing plants better than the owners of such institutions. Those who are trying to induce the government to take over the business of the nation should consider this explosion as just another reason why the government should get out of business and stay out of business, except for the purpose of imposing regulations that guard against further disasters.

L. A. Woods, State Superintendent, sends out press releases to fight the proposal in the legislature to cut off his political head. A bill is pending to make the State Superintendent appointive by the State Board of Education, rather than elective by the people. Woods is basing his defense of the right of election on the fact that it would be removing from the people their right for a free expression of choice in filling this political office. While we hold no brief for L. A. Woods, we think that he missed one of the strong arguments in opposition to the bill: The Board of Education is composed entirely of laymen, with no school men allowed on the board. You can fancy what would happen if some one proposed that the lawyers and the doctors be regulated by boards on which members of these professions were barred by law! Yet the schools of the state are regulated to a considerable degree by laymen who may or may not be educators; and the buying of millions of dollars of school text books is under the direct control of such a body.

Bob Calvert, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, blasts the so-called secret ballot bill now pending in the legislature as a bill to encourage fraud in elections. This bill has been sponsored by a group of women's clubs which have the idea that election judges look at the numbers on the back of the ballots, and then inspect the poll list to see who voted for whom in our elections. Perhaps there have been many abuses in election boxes, but on the whole our elections are free from fraud. After all, isn't it a pretty good thing to make it possible for the ballots to be inspected and see how each voter made his choice in case of discrepencies? We are certainly not opposed to improvements in our voting system, but this bill does not seem to call for any improvement. We had been in hopes that the legislature would change the ballot so that the voters would vote FOR the candidate of their choice, rather than AGAINST a whole list of candidates who is not their choice.

Hotels are one class of institutions which will not likely be caught by a sudden and perhaps wild scheme of multiplied construction, resulting in overbuilding. Hotels must rely primarily on the rent of their rooms. The prices set on room rent must be in line with what the people are willing to pay, based upon years of experience on the part of the traveling public. If room rents are too high, the traveling public will not buy the services offered by the hotel. With building costs at an abnormally high price; with furnishings at twice or three times their normal prices, with all kinds of services at sky prices, the wise hotel operator will not invest in buildings which cannot hope to bring him a judicious revenue. Home and commercial construction of various kinds, which do not depend upon the fickle attitude of the buying public, may continue in construction; but hotel construction simply cannot be figured as to where the owners may make a reasonable profit. Perhaps if the traveling public was more considerate with hotel property and would not tear up the furniture and steal the fixtures, hotels could get by on less tariff than charged today. But that is expecting too much from the public.

President Truman likes his job. He wants to continue in office. He did not want to be vice president, and expressed a dislike for the office of President when first elevated to the position. His popularity dropped while he was cleaning house and putting men in office of his own choice. After the President became acquainted with his duties, he became more and more attached to the job. His popularity has grown as the people came out from under the Roosevelt spell and learned about their new President. The recent attack of Henry Wallace on Truman has no doubt had much to do with the determination of the President to seek another term. Those who are acquainted with government affairs are fearful of Wallace and his ideas of running this government on the same pattern as employed by Russia. There are few people in this nation who are willing to change our present form of government for that of Moscow dictated policies—except poor deluded Wallace.

We have heard a large number of Randall county citizens express approval of the proposed bond issues which will soon be presented under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce. The three measures have been carefully considered by the organization. Projects have been selected which are necessary to the future growth and development of the county. The amounts which will be sought will be determined by the needs which seem paramount after this careful survey. Each citizen will know approximately what increase will be necessary in his taxes in order to pay off the bonded indebtedness. When the bond issues are presented, local citizens who sponsor the projects want to be armed with all of the facts which may be raised during the discussion of the bond election. That is democracy at work for the benefit of all of the people.

While most Panhandle counties fell down on the Red Cross drive, Randall county doubled its quota. The Red Cross has always been the most popular agency in this county. Perhaps it dates back to World War I when the people of the county raised $15,000 in one mighty drive, making a national record for such a small population. The quota has always been surpassed in every call of the Red Cross. During World War II the women of the community made a record in the sewing room. The people of Randall county have a just pride in the record which has been made for this great organization.

Investigators of the telephone strike at Odessa made their report, which clears the record of the night operator whom the employees sought to demote; but at the same time criticises the company for failure to act promptly with a hearing and a decision of its findings to the employees. So both parties are at fault—the usual story of all silly strikes. Those telephone workers over the state who were out on strike in sympathy with the Odessa crew are left dangling with no excuse for their strike; and the company may have learned a lesson in dealing promptly with future situations.

A Houston attorney has announced that he will be a candidate against Pappy O'Daniel next year. Pappy has made no announcement, but it is certain that he will be a candidate. Instead of being the silent Senator from Texas, Pappy has taken to the political road, and is making himself felt in his fight against those men whom Senator Connally has recommended for appointment. While Pappy holds office without our support, we renew our position taken several weeks ago: Just why should the administration continue to ignore Pappy when the people of Texas elected him by such a large majority.

In spite of the fact that Selective Service has come to an end, the War Department wants compulsory military training. Our guess is that Congress will not agree to this measure. The people are opposed to it. If war should raise its ugly head again, the people will agree to any war measure. But so long as peace prevails, no one wants to see the boys of America dragged away from their homes and placed under military rule.

The News is publishing a series of advertisements on church attendance. Regardless of how ornery you may think church members are, the world has never found a more forceful and potent influence for good than the church. Just an idea: If you think the church is slipping, why not get busy and help strengthen it, rather than gripe about the worldliness of its members?

Communists as such are few and far between in America; but there are too many American citizens hiding behind the cloak of patriotism and reforms who are full and running over with Communistic ideas. The Communists are smarter than they are given credit of being. They work under cover, and push their ideas through other folks who seldom do any thinking for themselves.

The legislature may pass the representative re-districting bill; but it is practically certain that the senatorial re-districting bill will fail. The legislative session will likely end about May 14 when the pay of the members drop from $10 to $5 per day.

Judging from the heavy vote cast in various towns and cities of Texas on April 1st, the voters are not fooling about their interest in politics. It was a good sign when so many people rushed to the polls to express their choice of officers. Most of us get hot and bothered about affairs in Washington and in Austin, but when it comes to local affairs—where we have the right and privilege to control politics, we go to sleep at the switch.

Pointed queries heard on the street: "See where members of Congress and the Legislature are complaining about their pay: Didn't they know what the pay was when they announced for office?" Perhaps that is a good question, but the facts are that the cost of living jumps in Washington and in Austin when the legislative bodies meet; and you cannot blame any member for wanting to get living expenses out of his job.

A bill is pending in the state legislature to abolish capital punishment. So long as the criminal can hide behind the insanity plea we see little reason for keeping capital punishment on the statute books. The taxpayer is a sucker for punishment, and therefore few criminals are put to death.

Congress gets its money's worth from the 160-man legislative reference service. Strengthened by the Congressional Reorganization Act, the researchers now answer Congressmen's queries at the rate of 3,300 a year.

IH Announces Details of
$20,000,000 Price Reductions

Details of the recently announced International Harvester policy of making price reductions to save users of our products approximately $20,000,000 a year have now been worked out.

We have reduced prices on 163 models. These cover 12 basic models of farm tractors, 123 basic models of farm machines, 16 basic models of industrial tractors and engines, and 12 models of motor trucks, as well as certain motor truck attachments. The new lower prices are effective as of March 10, 1947.

These reductions were made not because of any decline in demand, but because we believe nothing is more important to this country than to lower the prices of the goods people buy.

While prices have not been changed on all products, we have made reductions wherever possible, in the amounts possible. Prices of many of our most popular products have been substantially lowered.

Altogether, more than half of the company's customers will be benefited by the reductions, which range from 1% to 23.8% and from $2.50 to $300 per item, based on list prices, F.O.B. Chicago.

Since the people have demanded that the government withdraw from price control in peacetime, the responsibility to keep prices in check is back where it should be—in the hands of business and industry. The business outlook makes it possible for us to move toward the goal of lower prices, and we have felt a duty to act as promptly as possible.

Our ability to maintain these lower prices will depend on the supply and price of materials we buy from others and on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels.

The prices listed here carry out our announced policy that "Any price is too high if it can be reduced."

BOYCE HOUSE
"Gives You Texas"

My friend, John Gould, wrote in the Wichita Falls Daily Times:

There ought to be a symphony of Texas, wrought by one with the art and the affection to compose it, and he could put into it the howling of coyotes and the swish of the baffled sea against the granite wall at Galveston, and the tramp of marching feet and the industrious clatter of an oil rig and the bright music of a mocking bird singing in the rain, and the plaintive bellow of a newly-branded calf, and the crunch of Sam Houston's men gnawing raw corn after San Jacinto and the voices of children repeating the pledge to the flag, and the sound of an old hymn at a brush-arbor revival and the whirr of airplanes, and the cry of a tamale-vender calling his wares to the passers-by.

You should know, too, the smells of Texas, the smells of saddle leather and chili and pine forests and sheep-dip and wild plum blossoms and gasoline and sweat.

But when you have learned all this, not yet will you know Texas as she would ask to be known. Not even her own sons and daughters know her as they should; not even they have caught all her moods and her mysteries, her shadings and her overtones.

But they know that there is something that draws men to her and makes them Texans partaking of her heritage. They know that wherever, under the flag, whether in Iceland or Rangoon, there is one called Tex. he is one of whom men know that he will not fail in the crucial hour.

Texas is a catalyst which works a change without itself being changed. It is a salute and a challenge. It is a prayer and a song. It is a land that one must love.

UNFAILING ANSWER TO YOUR
HAY FEVER AND ASTHMA DISORDERS

We offer a free examination of hay fever and brochial asthma cases at this time to determine whether they can be treated in the privacy of their homes as many others have during the past year.

Physicians in many parts of the United States are now employing this treatment for all their cases of hay fever, asthma, allergic sinusitis sick headache, and hay fever sore eyes.

Use of this product has extended to England, Canada, Mexico, Philippines and Porto Rico, by physicians residing there. One of these foreign doctors has ordered nine sets of treatment for as many cases.

This treatment as one patient says, "Stands out way in front of all the rest for speed of recovery and completeness of relief."

The methods employed at the Allergy Clinic are very different from the older systems and are safe to use. There is another and most important difference between this and all the other methods used that and is the perfection of recovery and the years of complete freedom from further suffering, and since there has been no return of any symptom regardless of the severity of the pollens in the air over long periods of time it is regarded as a lifetime relief.

The expense of this complete course of treatment is less than several clinics get for the examination alone. If your case is one which yields to proper use of this system we care for it until recovery is complete without extra charge. Call and get a check-up and clear your nose and chest before the usual outbreak of the allergy season.

Huge Telescope Is About Ready

Most Powerful Instrument In World to Give Man Better Look.

PASADENA, CALIF. — The most powerful telescope in the world, designed to give man his farthest and most comprehensive look into the universe, should be ready for its first test next summer, said Dr. John A. Anderson.

Anderson and his associates at the California Institute of Technology refused to venture a prediction of what they expected to see, but their enthusiasm grows as each day brings nearer the completion of this giant telescope.

The telescope with its 200-inch mirror is expected to permit astronomers to "see" twice as far into space as they do now with a 100-inch telescope.

To Bring Moon Closer.

The instrument will embrace eight times as much space, and reflect four times the amount of light.

It should bring the moon within an arm's length of earth, astronomically speaking.

It may lead to discovery of new planets and stars.

The optical range of this telescope, according to theory, should be about one billion light years. A light year is the distance light travels, at 186,000 miles a second, in a year.

This new range should enable astronomers to make a more accurate estimation of what goes on in the universe of this earth.

The project, financed by Rockefeller foundation, includes work here and at Mt. Palomar 125 miles to the southeast.

At Pasadena, an optical shop, where the 200-inch disc and auxiliary mirrors are being ground, was constructed. Other buildings at Pasadena are the astrophysics instrument shop, where instruments, precision machine parts and optical mechanisms were manufactured, and the astrophysical laboratory, which houses offices, research facilities and a solar tower.

Many Engaged on Work.

The observatory site at Palomar has an altitude of 5,550 feet. In addition to three telescope buildings at the site, other buildings providing for the water, power, machine shop facilities, garages, offices and storage have been constructed.

The new community on Mt. Palomar also includes resident cottages, lodging accommodations, dining halls, water pumping plant and a school house. These have been used by the approximately 80 persons engaged in constructing the buildings.

When the big mirror is completed here, it will be transported to Palomar for a test mounting period, which may be one week or two or three months, depending on results of tests and difficulties encountered.

A small, 12-inch mirror is being prepared for test with the observatory equipment in case there is more delay in completion of the big mirror.

Observation at Palomar is expected to be much clearer than is now possible at Mt. Wilson, where observation difficulties have increased because of the growth of the Los Angeles area with its industrial smoke and general city haze.

Cable Under Highway Will Provide Power for Motors

LONDON.—Start of construction on "the world's first high frequency motor road"—on which cars drawing current from a cable under the concrete can run 125 miles an hour—was reported from Moscow by Tass.

The Russian news agency said the idea was conceived by Prof. Georgi Babat, Stalin prize winner, and that construction would cost less than that of a trolley line.

This is how the road works, Tass said:

"A cable charged with high frequency electric current, laid under an ordinary motor road, will generate an electromagnetic field within a range of 10 to 13 feet.

"Motor cars will be equipped with special receivers of high frequency current, rectifiers and condensers through which the current will pass into an ordinary motor installed on the car."

Youngster Picks the Right Chaser After Aspirin Binge

CLINTON, N. J.—Rollin F. Michaud, 2½, consumed 30 aspirin tablets, a bottle of cough medicine and a bottle of cod liver oil from the family medicine chest.

He topped his feast off with an appropriate chaser—a bottle of castor oil.

Doctors said his condition was satisfactory.

Commons Committee Against Public Funds for Liquor

LONDON. — A commons standing committee overrode Food Minister John Strachey and voted 23 to 22 to ban sale of intoxicants in state operated restaurants. The prohibition issue caused a bitter committee fight. Proponents of the ban argued that Scottish teetotalers, who are in the majority in some districts, objected to contributing public funds to establishments selling intoxicants.

The recent cold wave accomplished some good. Several heated arguments were frozen stiff.

Junior Chamber of Commerce Urges Highway Safety

The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-operating with the Texas Motor Transportation Association and the American Trucking Associations, announced the opening today of a "Courtesy and Safety" campaign for Texas highways.

"The mounting toll of deaths, injuries, and property damage in traffic crashes is a matter of grave concern to all, said John Mangrum of Dallas, president of the Texas Junior Chamber.

J. B. Rasbury of Orange, chairman of the organization's Safety Committee, called on every local Junior Chamber to participate. He said:

"I am confident that this campaign involving trucks and busses will not only help to maintain their high standards of operation, but will also encourage better driving on the part of individual motorists."

Management of trucks will be asked to pledge themselves for greater courtesy and safety on the highways, "in the hope that thru our efforts the streets and highways of Texas will become a safer place for all Texans to enjoy."

Management agrees in signing the pledge to strive for "the development of a spirit or morale among our personnel that will entitle them to be recognized as "gentlemen of the highway."

Drivers promise to "extend our best efforts to drive safely and to render courteous consideration to all other users of the streets and highways at all times, and to do our best to avoid accidents by practicing defensive driving."

A feature of the campaign is the selection of a "driver of the month" for each city monthly during the campaign. At a dinner in his honor, this driver will receive a citation for outstanding achievement in the promotion of highway courtesy and safety.

Local "drivers of the month" will be nominated for the title of "Texas driver of the month" during the campaign, and winners of the state citation will also be given a dinner.

Cash prizes of $100, $50, and $25 will go to the Junior Chambers of Commerce who get the most pledge signers in proportion to the number of trucks located in their respective counties.

MORE TIRE FOR YOUR MONEY

There's EXTRA VALUE in the Tire that
OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES

It's time to measure what you get for what you pay. No matter what you buy, the measure of true worth is in performance . . . how long it will serve you.

In tires there are several yardsticks . . . mileage, protection against bruising and road shocks, resistance to skidding. In all of these, the B. F. Goodrich Silvertown gives you extra value.

Its wider, flatter tread which covers more road area, spreads the wear more evenly. The more tire in contact with the road also means more tread to grip . . . to prevent skidding. Beneath this better tread is a 35% stronger cord body built with sturdier cords and more of them to give better resistance to road shock and bruising.

All this Extra Value adds up to today's big tire buy . . . the postwar B. F. Goodrich Silvertown — the tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES.

News In Canyon 25 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Randall County News of March 30, 1922

The News published an Historical Edition on the 25th anniversary of the newspaper. It was the largest issue ever published, comprising 32 pages. The history of the development of Canyon and Randall county was well covered by stories and pictures of the growth of this section. One section of eight pages was devoted to the growth and development of Happy.

April 6, 1922

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Warren.

A tree specialist from College Station is being brought here by County Agent C. F. Walker to see what can be done to combat the bores in the locust trees.

J. W. McQueen, a local druggist, was indicted by the grand jury for conducting a grab bag sales under the lottery law. He was acquitted on the trial jury.

T. V. Slack, A. N. Burgan and R. P. Jarrett were elected members of the school board, and G. G. Foster was re-elected.

J. W. Reid, C. D. Lester and Grady Oldham were re-elected to the city council.

Josh Sasnett was given a sentence of six months in jail for beating his step-son.

J. E. Stokes Has Taken Charge of Wellington Cafe

J. E. Stokes of this city recently purchased a cafe in Wellington from G. B. Hopper. He took over active management Monday and will continue to operate the business under its present name, Goat's Cafe.

Mr. Stokes, who formerly owned a local cafe, is a restaurant man of 17 years experience, and has owned cafes in Stephenville and Hamlin.

Mrs. Stokes and their daughter, Jackie Sue, will remain in Canyon until the end of the school term.

Small businessmen are learning they, too, can sell by mail. Examples seeking mail-order advice from U. S. Commerce Department: an Ohio printer, job work; an Alabama high school teacher, unusual snapshots; a Maryland woman, hints on baby care; a California man, hunting and fishing equipment.

The final budget ceiling to which House and Senate committeemen will agree will lop about $5.2 billion off Truman's $37.5 billion budget. However, this ceiling will be elastic and can be broken by specific appropriations. Its significant purpose is that it provides a basis for determining future tax cuts.

Counting from the founding of our company, we mark our twentieth birthday this month—on April 14, to be exact.

We mention our birthday, not because we feel deserving of any particular acclaim for having attained twenty years of age, or for having served well for nearly that long. Rather, we mention it because these twenty years have witnessed such a tremendous development of the territory we serve. We believe it's the fastest-growing part of the nation. And we sincerely believe, too, that the availability of good Natural Gas Service is contributing substantially to this rapid development.

We express our appreciation for the thousands of fine friendships that have grown up between us and the people of west Texas. We shall strive to hold and deepen these friendships, and to make many more, during our next twenty years.

Record in New Type Planes Is Expected

Engineers Say Operating Cost Will Be Lowered.

DETROIT.—More new types of aircraft will be introduced in 1947 than in any previous year in American air transportation history, it was reported at closing sessions of the annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

R. C. Loomis of Trans World Airline said the new planes will include the Lockheed Constellation model 649, designed for commercial use, a new Douglas DC-6, the Boeing Stratocruiser, the Martin models 202 and 303, the Convair 240 and at least two smaller craft.

The spokesman said the use of fuel injection systems will increase safety and result in lower operating costs this year. He predicted, however, that no gas turbine powered aircraft will be used in commercial service in 1947.

Another L.A.E. speaker, Capt. W. C. Latrobe of the navy department's bureau of ships, said navy ships in the future may be operated on fuels from new sources. Tests have demonstrated the possibility of running vessels on gasoline and Diesel fuels made from coal, natural gas and oil shale, he said.

W. F. Joachim of the U. S. naval engineering experiment station, Annapolis, Md., called for a new and higher order of development engineering in the Diesel engine field.

Noise reduction, elimination of vibration, more power and lighter weight are sought by the navy in Diesel engines, he reported.

Infant Mortality Rate Drops in United States

WASHINGTON. — The public health service reported that the infant mortality rate had reached the lowest point in the nation's history and appeared to be still heading downward.

The rate for 1945 was 38.3 deaths under one year old per 1,000 live births, 3.8 per cent lower than the rate for 1944. Provisional figures for the first 10 months of 1946, a health service announcement added, indicated a 3.2 decrease from the same period of 1945.

The maternal mortality rate of 2.1 per 1,000 live births for 1945 also was a new low, showing a reduction of nearly 9 per cent from the rate of 2.3 from the previous year.

The agency said one of the factors in the lowered infant and maternal mortality rates was an increase from 1944 to 1945 in the proportion of babies delivered in hospitals.

The infant mortality rate varied widely among the states from a 1945 low of 28.2 in Rhode Island and Nebraska to a high of 100.8 in New Mexico.

Nazi Loot Aids Living Victims; Teeth, Jewels Provide Funds

FRANKFURT, GERMANY. — Gold teeth and jewelry the Nazis took from people they killed in concentration camps soon will be sold to provide money for relief of the refugees who survived, military government officials disclosed.

The gold, conservatively estimated to be worth several million dollars, was stored by the Nazis in Germany's Reichsbank vaults.

By international agreement among the Allies, it was removed from German assets and allotted to the inter-governmental committee on refugees for relief work.

The committee now is preparing to sell the gold on world markets.

$3,000,000 in Gold Shipped By Plane to Bank in Mexico

NEWARK, N. J. — Wells Fargo, which once delivered gold by stagecoach in the old west, delivered a $3,000,000 gold shipment by air.

A chartered plane with more than three tons of gold ingots aboard landed at Newark airport en route from Toronto to Mexico City. The gold is being transferred from the Bank of Canada to the Bank of Mexico.

The gold was accompanied by a well-armed guard, a modern counterpart of the rifle-carrying stagecoach guard of yore.

Surgeon Removes 13 Headless Pins From Leg of School Girl

KIRKSVILLE, MO. — Dr. Paul R. Koogler, surgeon-in-chief at the hospital of Kirksville college of osteopathy and surgery, said he had removed 13 or 14 headless pins imbedded in a leg of Mary Serena Beach, 16-year-old high school junior of Sigourney, Pa.

Miss Beach registered at the hospital with symptoms of rheumatism. X-ray pictures disclosed the pins, which the girl could not explain.

Month of April Is Dedicated To Cancer Control

By proclamation of President Harry S. Truman, the month of April is Cancer Control Month throughout the nation. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is asking each citizen to consider the danger signals and secure medical advice at the first appearance of any suspicious symptom. There are many causes of cancer; the most common form of which is chronic or prolonged irritation.

One of the questions often asked is whether or not cancer is hereditary in human beings. Tendencies to form cancer may possibly be inherited; however, since the method of inheriting such tendencies is obscure, the presence of cancer in one or both parents should be merely a cause of greater alertness in looking for and recognizing suspicious symptom on the part of family members. There is no need of a fatalistic attitude. The fact concerning heredity do not justify them.

At the first warning signs recognized, consult your physician. The early symptoms are any sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth, or lips; a painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip, or tongue; irregular bleeding or discharge from any natural body opening; progressive change in the size or color of a wart, mole, or birthmark; persistent indigestion; persistent hoarseness or difficulty in swallowing; and any change in normal bowel habits. See your doctor about any of these signals.

Early recognition of cancer symptoms will lead to early diagnosis and treatment, and in many cases the victim can be entirely cured and live out a normal life span.

Powerful Tube Jams Foe Radar

Details of 'Electron Gun' Now Revealed; Aids In Air Raids.

BERKELEY, CALIF. — A powerful ultra-short wave generator which was used to jam German radar systems during Allied air raids was shown publicly here for the first time recently. This new type of radio transmitter is called the resnatron. It may increase the efficiency of television and other forms of radio, including instruments used to guide pilotless planes and rockets.

This high frequency tube, which sprayed explosive bursts of electrons and blanketed radar apparatus for 300 miles, was credited with much of the success of mass daylight air raids. Possibly it helped save the lives of hundreds of Allied airmen.

University of California disclosed the details of the resnatron, which was developed from an outmoded atom-smasher by two young electrical engineers, Dr. D. H. Sloan and Dr. L. C. Marshall.

Start Tests in 1938.

Sloan and Marshall started experiments on the resnatron in 1938. By the spring of 1945, they had evolved a "gun" with which the Allies were hurling more raw radio power into the air than any other amplifier ever constructed.

The resnatron was capable of smothering all radio and radar frequencies between 350 and 600 megacycles in a cone 30,000 feet high, 300 miles long and 15 miles wide.

With it the Allies kept the enemy from learning in advance the location and direction of the big air fleets that devastated Germany in the closing months of the war.

This initial advantage over the Nazi defenses multiplied the enemy's troubles and contributed indirectly to speeding the end of the war.

The resnatron fires a concentrated burst of electrons, within a tall vacuum tube, which explode with tremendous power. The power is broadcast to disrupt radio waves of any desired frequency.

Source of Power.

Sloan and Marshall said the versatile tube is the most powerful and efficient source of stable power amplification known. It is the only power amplifier which has achieved the same efficiency as a high-frequency radio broadcasting station, about 80 per cent.

Because of this, the scientists said, it has peacetime possibilities in broadcasting television and F.M.-radio, for long-range communications and transmission of high-frequency power — or its original purpose of an atom smasher.

Sloan, who designed the world's first million-volt X-ray tube in 1933, also worked on the army's guided-missiles program at Johns Hopkins university during the war.

Marshall served as the first director of the British branch of the radiation laboratory and later was chief of the operational research section in the Pacific ocean area.

New Hormone Gives Relief In Stomach Ulcer Cases

CHICAGO. — Development of a new hormone which scientists hope will heal stomach ulcers and also prevent their recurrence has been announced by Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, Chicago physiologist.

The hormone, known as entergastrone, is derived from the intestinal tracts of hogs and was developed at Northwestern university, where Dr. Ivy formerly headed the department of physiology.

Dr. Ivy said that the hormone has been used in the treatment of peptic ulcers "in scores of cases and the results are sufficiently encouraging to show this method of attack is worthy of further study."

Dr. Ivy, who now is executive vice president of the professional schools of the University of Illinois in Chicago, has spent several years studying the ulcer problem.

"Approximately 1,500,000 persons in the United States develop peptic ulcers during any 10-year period," he writes in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association.

"The problem of the peptic ulcer challenges medical science today because among the chronic diseases it ranks 10th as a cause of death and 12th as a cause of days lost from work.

"The death rate per 100,000 (persons, presumably) in the United States from peptic ulcer has increased from 2.7 in 1900 to 6.8 in 1943.

"The most discouraging characteristic of peptic ulcer is its likelihood to recur."

Mexico Strikes Out 50 Labor Leaders in Big Oil Monopoly

MEXICO CITY. — Pemex, the government oil monopoly, struck from the payroll about 50 labor leaders held responsible for a one day work stoppage organized after labor delegates walked out of long pending wage negotiations. This was done by Pres. Miguel Aleman's order, as was the use of troops, which operated refineries, delivered oil and continued to guard all installations.

MINUTE FICTION

Dumb Dora

By Nick Kushta

WNU Features.

DORA'S my girl and I guess I can call her dumb, but she's my girl and nobody but me can call her dumb. She's a brunette and a cute little thing, all cuddly and nice and I want to marry her. I come out of the army all set to get hitched but she says no, I ain't man enough for her.

Her brother, Dick, is the model for the kind of man she wants. Well, I'm only a truck driver and not much up on the brains department but Dick ain't half as smart as I am.

"Dora," I says to her, "I been out of the army a month now and every minute of the 18 months I been overseas I've been thinking of coming back and marryin' you right off. You say no." And Dora says, "I like you Joe but I don't know if I'll be happy with you. You see, Joe, my Pops ran a gymnasium and he was really muscled. Dick is just the same way. I'm so I expect it of a man, Joe."

I finally propositioned her, "Listen, kid, if I get to show you I'm as much a man as Dick will you marry me?" She looks at me for a long time. "Sure," she says, "I like you, Joe. I like you a lot, but I wanta marry you without any doubt in my mind."

Well, the first idea I get doesn't work out too well. I ask Dora and Dick to go out to the beach. I'm a pretty good swimmer and something might happen. A kid might be drowning and I could save him. You can't tell, and it's worth a try.

But when you size me up next to Dick I see it's a mistake to come out to the beach. This is my first time out and my skin is all white and I gotta admit it, I look flabby.

Nobody but me can call her dumb. She's a brunette and a cute little thing.

Dick's got a physique I would have admired if he weren't my problem.

The next brain wave I get is when I go to the gym with Dick. He fights a little and exercises with the barbells, lifting them over his head like nothing. I went over to the boxing ring. The gym's got a weekly card and some punks are sparring with balloon gloves, trying to get a place on the card. I watch them for a while and before I know it I'm hollering bits of advice to one of the kids.

"SAY, why don't you go into the ring," some guy suggests, and I'm in a pair of trunks sparring away. I don't know much more about fighting but what I learned from common sense. Common sense means a lot in the ring, though, and pretty soon I'm actually enjoying it up there. I collected a nice crowd.

So I'm signed for the Saturday night card. I figured it's okay because I can get Dora there, and she'll see me knock out my opponent and we can get married. As simple as that. But what I ain't figured on is that they put Dick up to fight against me.

Dora's sitting at the ringside. Before the fight she said, "May the best man win," and her lips trembled and her eyelids fluttered. I wanted to walk out, but it was too late, and she wants both of us to win!

In the first round, I bopped Dick hard. He's pretty muscle bound and can't move fast. I hear Dora in the first row hollering at me, "You baboon. Crook. Double-crosser." And those aren't nice things to say. "Hit 'em hard, Dick. Knock him out!"

I look in her direction and Dick hits me with a terrific punch. I fall down but wait until the count of nine so I can get rested a little. All this time I'm looking at Dora and she's hollering, "Atta boy, Dick, atta boy!" And she's waving her hands, smiles all over her face.

This is too much, even for me. I don't care for nothin' now. I get up from the floor, feeling disgusted, disgraced and mad. Some driver friends are betting pretty heavy on me. I had been thinking of letting Dick walk away with the fight when I saw Dora wanted him to win, but not now! Nuts to these fickle dames!

I look at Dick's chin and let him have it. Dick crumples. I win. I walk to the dressing room, shower and dress. I'm in a terrible mood 'cause I feel I lost even though I won, but Dora ought to be more reasonable!

"Congratulations!" someone says, as I'm walking out. It's Dora. "My hunk of man." She melts in my arms and I kiss her good. Oh boy! This plan has worked.

Eggs A Dollar A Dozen ?

Lagging Chick Sales Point to Shortage of Eggs and Poultry by Fall as Expected Surpluses Fail to Develop

How much money could you make next fall if eggs were selling for a dollar a dozen? It could happen. In fact, in New York last week, the President of the Butter and Egg Merchants' Association said it may happen.

IT MAY HAPPEN! WHY?

Because every sign today points to a shortage of eggs and poultry next fall.

Two months ago—even 30 days ago—nobody would have believed such a prediction. Folks were talking of an egg surplus. The Government said it would support the price of eggs. But what has happened?

THERE IS NO SURPLUS. Eggs are disappearing as fast as they are being laid. And far too few baby chicks are being started to meet the demand for poultry and eggs next fall.

Poultry experts don't need a crystal ball to predict this coming shortage and high eggs and poultry prices. They just look at these cold facts of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture which tell the story:

THESE FACTS POINT TO HIGH EGG AND POULTRY PRICES

1. At the season when eggs would normally be moving into storage in great volume, stocks of shell eggs are dwindling.
   In February this reduction amounted to 70,000 cases. On March 1 there was only about half an egg in storage for every American. A year ago there were 1½ million cases—about 7 times as many.
2. Frozen eggs in storage decreased by 7 million pounds in February as compared to an increase of 6 million pounds in February a year ago.
3. Egg production in February was 4% below a year ago due to 6% fewer layers.
4. Americans are eating eggs at a record rate because of high purchasing power and high meat prices.
5. There were 55 million fewer chickens on farms January 1 than there were a year ago.
6. Virtually all signs point to an excellent grain producing season in 1947 which normally means lower feed prices. A record wheat crop and another 3 billion bushel corn crop are forecast.

IT'S A GOOD YEAR TO START CHICKS

Yes eggs may sell for a dollar a dozen next fall, but you'll have to start chicks this spring—to cash in on this golden opportunity.

Our advice is to buy good chicks and start them right. Feed them Purina Chick Startena to get them off to a flying start. It's America's Favorite Chick Starter for Life and Growth and this year it's the best Purina ever made. We have a good supply in stock. Eaglettes Grasp District Title

Morton Is Selected Captain, Defeats Dimmitt and Hart

Volleyball champions of 1946, the Canyon Eaglettes, have again taken the outstanding title as District Champs of 1947.

Saturday, the first go-round, the Eaglettes drew a bye, then Dimmitt forfeited so they were in the finals, where they met Friona. Dumas outscored Tulia, then Friona beat Dumas in order to get to the finals. The mighty Eaglettes quickly overpowered Friona in two straight games 15-7 and 15-11. Joan Morton led scoring with six points.

Defeats Undefeated

Defeating an undefeated and District-winning team, Canyon traveled to Hart Wednesday night to give them four hard games. With the object of winning three out of five games, Hart barely edged Canyon 14-16 in the first try. The Eaglettes strengthened during the next tilt and came out 15-13. In the next game they subdued Hart 15-2. The fourth and final try, mostly a volleying game, took thirty minutes to end with the score 15-11 in Canyon's favor. The Eaglettes winning "set-ups" and "spikes" were beautifully performed by every member of the team. Juanita Avent tallied 17 scores, followed by Martha Jean Avent, 14, and Geneva McDougal, 13. Bobby Ford acted as captain.

Morton, Captain

Tuesday Dimmitt played host to the Eaglettes but were losers by 15-11 and 16-12. Ford placed seven tallies. The Canyon "B" team lost to the Bobbies 15-12 and 15-13. Sue Dickerson and Joanna Haines took scoring honors with eight and six respectively.

Joan Morton was unanimously elected captain of the team last Saturday before District by the other teammates. She is a junior and now rules over a victorious team that has bowed as losers to only three opposing teams.

YEA, NATURE!

For the first time in its history Canyon High School will have a picnic for both junior and senior high school in Palo Duro Canyon.

A picnic is not a time for one to run, scream, and act like a wild Indian exclusively, it should be a time to get close to nature. The Palo Duro's deep canyons, dotted with native evergreens, her high cliffs, streaked with its vari-colored strata of rock, and her deep canyons of red, brown, white, gray, and blue tones combine to produce a scene, inspiring, to say the least.

Why can't one breath in deep draughts of air and absorb the elements from the sun's rays—enough to last for those remaining days of school when we shall have to sit in rooms, bending over books, and craming away to our teacher's content.

So let's plan to have a lot of good clean fun and come back to school prepared for that last home stretch of six weeks.

Coal miners in the Saar have agreed to work an extra Sunday for the benefit of French industry. It will mean 34,000 tons of coal for France. The demonstration was decided upon by the German miners to express their satisfaction with the relatively large food rations they are getting from the French for themselves and families.

Greetings, kids! This is ole' Cactus Cal signing on for a few minutes of gossip and informal chatter. Listen closely, because some of these items are just too good to pass up.

Don't tell me that THAT romance is starting up again! Yes, I'm talking about that one between Dorothy Gafford and Charles Ray Kelso. I wonder . . . . !

That Mary Ann Parker sure has a winning way with the senior boys for Friday night she was seen at the dance with Bill Davis and Sunday with M. E. Rhoads. (No man shortage for her.)

Seems as though a certain senior boy thinks Marselete Wilson and Wayne Kelso would make a very charming couple. How about it Wilbert?

Dwight Moore, an admirer of all CHS girls, seemed to be having a swell time Sunday night with a certain eighth grader, Katie Furlow.

What's this we hear about Nelda Ruthart being such a "heart smasher?"

Why does Zonelle Gregg seem so happy and interested about her part in the senior play? 'Course it has its good points! C. L. Hood does play opposite her, and there are some good lines (non speaking) to her advantage.

Ruby Lee Bonds, Ema Jean Zachry and Billie Bonds seem to have a big crush on some of the Happy boys. Well!

Following are a few of the couples seen at the dance Friday night at Cousins:

June Jennings—Pat Campbell
Sue Ann Colwell—Don Hickman
Nancy Ann Nicklaus—Charles Wright
Janey Forester—Charlie Stevens

Seen at the Country Club Sunday afternoon were Joanna Haines, Albert Craig, Bobbie Ford, Bruce Winn, Barbara McDougal and Joe Abbott. Just how do the twins fit in?

Wonder where the CHS boys got all the lipstick they had on themselves . . . ? It's time to confess boys . . . ?

Spring romance seems to have hit in another spot. Helen Spencer and "Herman" Needham were seen having a gay old time Saturday and Sunday nights.

Salad, Favorite

Eating pineapple cottage cheese salad, watching Robert Young on the screen, and playing tennis are her pet diversions. Painting with oil is something else she likes to do very much.

When asked her pet peeve, she answered quickly, "Runners in my hose—and I always have them."

Speaks of First Day

While speaking of her first day in CHS, Mrs. Terry said, "I had a most interesting day, filled with, certainly, a variety of experiences."

Mrs. Terry is replacing Miss Kathryn Davies who had taught in the home making department for fourteen months. Miss Davies left, March 21, to be married.

For the past two weeks, Miss Carolyn Newsom has taken over the duties of the homemaking department until a regular teacher could be found. She had the help of practice teachers: Miss Louise Cheatham, Miss Mary Louise Phiel, and Miss Betty Jean Pugh.

Grade Notes

Last Thursday one of the pupils brought Mrs. Dan Usery, third grade teacher, a pot plant for Easter. Mrs. Usery reports that most of the children who were absent with chickenpox are back in school this week.

Instead of having an Easter egg hunt, Mrs. L. M. Cousins' fourth grade, and their roommothers' gave a tea for the other mothers. The table in the library was decorated with a lace tablecloth, Easter egg candles, and having sweetpeas and fern as the center piece. Punch, two kinds of cookies, and favors of Easter baskets filled with candy eggs, were the refreshments.

Mrs. L. M. Cousins spent the weekend in Lubbock visiting friends.

Lora Lue Stone withdrew last week and moved to Perryton, Texas.

Mrs. Tom Brasher, fourth grade teacher, is absent from her classes this week due to the death of her brother. Mrs. A. M. Roberts is teaching for her.

The class had their Easter egg hunt and were served different colored popcorn balls, orange pops, cup-cakes and a colored egg with the student's name on it. The pupils played baseball.

Mrs. Ed Money's home was the place Mrs. Mitchell Jones' fifth grade had their egg hunt. They had sack lunches and played baseball.

R. N. Cook's farm was where Mrs. Vearl Iverson's sixth grade had their Easter egg hunt. They had a picnic lunch after which they played baseball.

A weiner roast at Roadside park was Mrs. John Davis' sixth grades entertainment instead of an egg hunt. Hot dogs, cookies, potato chips, ice cream, and punch were served by the roommothers.

Mrs. Worth Jennings, Mrs. Ken Burrum, Mrs. Newton Harrell, and Mrs. E. J. Cundiff, roommothers, gave Mrs. John Davis a beautiful pot plant for Easter.

After hunting eggs and drinking pop, Mrs. Andy Walsh's fifth grade played baseball.

Mrs. A. K. Goodman's third grade had an egg hunt at J. D. Barker's farm last Thursday.

Charles Brasher, Nancy Root, and David Lee Richardson are absent from Mrs. Goodman's class due to chickenpox.

Mrs. Roscoe Davis' second grade class, had an easter egg hunt at Mrs. E. A. Michael's last Thursday afternoon. The party was planned by the roommothers, Mrs. Clay Cooper, Mrs. R. A. Neblett, and Mrs. E. A. Michael. Harley Adams, Carroll Lee McCarter, Sandra Michael, and Ignacia Hernandez were given a silver prize egg for finding the most eggs. The children were served cookies, pop, candy, Easter chickens.

Dee Zane Pond is back in school after being out with the whooping cough.

The Easter egg hunt, which Mrs. Stella Murrell's second grade had, was followed with refreshments of pop, candy and cup-cakes. Three prizes were given for the most eggs found and these prizes were received by David Hawkins, Leon Wesley, and Doris Jean Hilgenfeld.

Sandwiches and pop were served by the roommothers after Mrs. Joe Black's first grade had their egg hunt.

Mrs. Black spent the holidays in Mangum, Oklahoma, visiting her son and family.

Mrs. T. W. Collins, first grade teacher, went to Plainview to see her sister, and to Floydada to see her brother, during the Easter holidays.

Geraldine Small and Valeta Haines have announced that the final pages of copy of "Soaring Wings" have been sent to the Steck Company in Austin. They expect the annuals to be back ready for distribution about a week before school is out. The other cost will be announced before the annuals arrive.

Cousins Hall Is Spot for Dance

Floral Motive Features Artificial Garden, Fence

Canyon High and West Texas High's senior classes combined Friday night, April 4, in Cousins Hall ballroom for a semi-formal dance together with faculty, sponsors, and other couples to whom invitations had been sent.

Decorating was done by the West Texas seniors. The Art class of the college designed the decorations consisting of large flowers hung from the light fixtures, miniature gardens in several places with white picket fences and on the curtain were the words: "W. T. H. and C. H. S. Senior Spring Ball" on silver paper.

Refreshments were taken care of by the Canyon High seniors and consisted of punch, cookies, and sandwiches.

Pictures Taken

As an added attraction, Miss Dorinda Bond, journalism teacher at the college, took pictures of several couples dancing or looking at the artificial flowers.

Several "Paul Jones" were held and at a given time the girls started tagging partners for the dances and these names were written in a souvenir booklet.

"Most of the seniors attended and the affair was very well planned and conducted," stated Mr. T. L. Devin and Miss Lurline Bowman, co-sponsors.

HOBO DAY ! ! ! !

Does your house or yard need cleaning? Do you have any other odd job that needs 'tending to? Hmmm?

If so contact some FHA member or leave word at the CHS office, phone 23, before Saturday, April 12.

So, remember, Saturday, April 12, is the day to get that job done you've been dreading and at the same time help the Future Homemakers Club raise money for their summer camp fund.

Classes Discuss Future Socials

In called class meetings, Monday, fourth period, the main interest of all classes was perfecting plans for the all-day school picnic, Friday, April 18.

Seniors discussed the date for their play "Mumbo Jumbo" but it was not definitely decided as to when it should be given. Besides debating on the place for the senior trip, Mr. Devin, sponsor, announced that the invitations for commencement had arrived and were ready for distributing.

The main fact to be settled for the juniors was the Junior-Senior Banquet, which they decided to give May 9. Mrs. Knott also announced that the class pins had arrived.

After deciding to go on the picnic with the rest of the school the sophomores planned a weiner roast for Friday, April 25, at the country club. The room mothers are also giving the class a formal party, Thursday, April 10.

In the freshman class meeting Mrs. Wayne Terry was elected sponsor, replacing Miss Kathryn Davies, who recently resigned.

The main interest in both seventh and eighth grade class meeting was the school picnic.

Senior Caps, Gowns Ordered; Graduation Invitations Come

Mr. T. L. Devin and Miss Lurline Bowman, co-sponsors, called a senior class meeting sixth period Wednesday, April 2, to notify the members of tryouts for the Senior play characters to be held that afternoon after school.

Also they discussed and decided to have their graduation invitations and cards sent, which came Monday. They also decided that the graduation caps and gowns should be grey with tassels of purple and white.

An invitation admitting two to the Spring Ball at Cousins Hall was given to each of the members.

Plastics Used On Huge Scale

Chemical Matures Under War Stress; Now Factor In Big Business.

CHICAGO. — "Matured under the stress of war, plastics have become an important factor in the field of big business," declared William T. Cruse, executive vice president of the Society of the Plastics Industry.

"Peacetime finds America using plastics in industry and home on a gigantic scale," he continued. "The man-made material has come a long way from the day when it was largely associated with variety store trinkets and baubles.

"Plastics," he added, "have emerged as engineering materials in their own right. Industry is using them in the factory as housing, gears and a thousand other sturdy items never dreamed up 10 years ago."

It took the war — a proving ground for many things and people —to give plastics supporters the test they needed to show that their material could stand up with any other if not misapplied.

Blow to Industry.

In the early days, manufacturers had unfortunate experiences with plastics and threw up their hands in disgust.

They made plastic cameras that fogged the film, combs that curled up, and plastic dinnerware that softened in hot water.

"It was simply a case of using the wrong plastic to do a particular job," Cruse explained. "There are more than 23 plastics to choose from. All are different. The only thing they have in common is their origin—the molecules can be juggled in the test tube and combined in many sorts of ways to make plastics that are hard, soft, elastic, semiliquid or brittle, depending on what use is to be made of them."

This early misapplication was a severe blow to what had been heralded as a plastic age. The industry was just beginning to make strides again when the war broke out.

It got into the fray as a pinch-hitter when such strategic metals as aluminum, magnesium and zinc became scarce.

Show Versatility.

Almost immediately, plastics demonstrated their versatility and adaptability to a variety of uses.

The public heard little of plastics until the war department revealed it was being used in helmets, trench mortar fuses, pistol grips, bomber plane noses and bomber fuselages.

"In battleship construction, over 1,000 different plastics applications were used, in airplanes more than 200," Cruse said.

Plastics also went into radar equipment, assault boats, life rafts, jungle boots, goggles, binoculars and electrical equipment."

Today, once doubtful manufacturers are back on the bandwagon and looking for plastics for an answer to their problems.

But plastics leaders, mindful of the damaging blow that unbridled public enthusiasm once dealt them, now are moving with caution.

They are reluctant to talk about plastic cars and plastic homes.

"We are trying to strip away the glamour, magic and mystery with which many have come to regard plastics," Cruse said.

"We are pointing to it as a material of tough quality that will do a particular job well when properly engineered."

Air Force Officers Are Given Half of General Staff Jobs

WASHINGTON. — General Eisenhower, army chief of staff, has approved a policy of turning over half of the top general staff jobs to air force officers, war department officers said.

Eisenhower made the new policy at the persistent request of General Spaatz, army air force commander. It is intended to prepare AAF leaders for the day when they will have autonomy under the unification proposal.

The new policy states that either the director or assistant director of each of the six general staff divisions and 10 special staff posts shall be an air force officer.

This step is resented strongly by ground force officers.

These ground officers were said to feel that should the unification program proposed by President Truman not be approved by congress the air force officers still would retain their advantageous positions.

The AAF officers are jubilant over their increased power, which they say is just recognition for the part the air force played in World War II.

MINUTE FICTION

Hope Eternal

By Gwynn Jones

WNU Features.

EPITAPH JONES closed the door of the crazy old cabin with a resounding bang. He gave the house a malignant look before he turned and stamped noisily off the sagging porch.

Though he looked a carefree figure, Epitaph's thoughts were acutely painful. "A weepin' woman. Always a-weepin'. Livin' in lux'ry, a lovin' man, all the work she can do and still she weeps. No sooner she stops weepin' for one thing she begins weepin' for somethin' else. Weep and cry—cry and weep, till I gotta find me some real sunshine somewhere, quick."

As though drawn by a magnet, his feet climbed a steep street, passed a pool hall, a fruit market, a barber shop, a pawn shop. He turned through a white-washed gate into a neat yard where red tubs set on great gray stumps waited their summer cargo of flowers.

Epitaph's knock was answered by a trim young woman who greeted him with a pleased laugh.

"Why, how-de-do, Mr. Jones. I was jest sayin' to myself I wisht that nice Mr. Jones would drop along and here you come promenadin' in. Do have this easy chair, Mr. Jones, and lemme take your hat."

Tearful spring had drifted into gracious summer and summer had faded into frost-tinted autumn when Epitaph again crossed the black and gray ash heaps where grimy children and bony goats still swarmed. He did not swagger now. His raiment was as natty as ever and his cap still clung at a rakish angle but there was a chastened air about him. He had a look of one who has suffered a grievious disillusionment.

"Why how-de-do, Mr. Jones. I was jest sayin' to myself I wisht that nice Mr. Jones would come along."

Pausing before the crazy old cabin, he surveyed it fondly. Then he tip-toed across the sagging porch and slowly pushed open the protesting door.

A TALL thin woman in a dejected black dress appeared from an inner room. She saw Mr. Jones and began to laugh. Mr. Jones felt the universe reeling. Sissy laughing!

"Why Sissy, I thought you was such a weepin' woman. You sick, Sissy?"

"No indeedy. Never felt better in my life. Come right in, Epitaph." Sissy trilled merrily.

"How come you to change so, Sissy?"

Sissy chuckled, "Well, when you went off with that gigglin' Cyrene I took a thought to myself. If that no-account Cyrene can laugh another girl's man away from her, I says, I better learn me some laughs too, so I did."

Epitaph shuddered as at a prickling memory.

"But Sissy, I don't like laughin' women. Can't you weep jest a little, Sissy?"

"No, I'll weep no more. How come you stayed at Cyrene's so long if you don't like laughin' women, Epitaph?"

"This mornin' she got a—a kind of laughin' fit and throwed a hammer at me. So I took it was kind of a hint and I jest natchelly snuck out and left. Hammer hit me, too."

"Ain't that a shame. Cyrene didn't ought to act so. Now me when I have laughin' fits I jest hurl flat irons," and Sissy caught up one that stood on a near-by table and advanced on her guest in a perfect gale of merriment.

THE west was still bright when Epitaph beached his boat on the sandy shore. A crooked path led him to a small clearing in a wood. On a ragged blanket before a ramshackle hut built mostly of packing cases and tin strips, sprawled a man, idle, relaxed, half-hidden in a haze of rank tobacco smoke. A scrawny hound, equally relaxed, dozed beside him. As Epitaph Jones gazed on that peaceful scene a sense of relief, of security, swept over him.

The man on the blanket looked up. He spoke with a rare economy of effort.

"Hi, Ep'taph. Make y'sef t'home. Meet m' sis' 'Vang'line." He closed his eyes, exhausted.

Epitaph shivered—half turned to flee. Then he made an about-face.

Said Mr. Jones most politely, "How-de-do, Miss 'Vangeline, I jest dropped in to see would you like me for a steady boarder. I need me a change of climate, bad, and with you I could dwell forever in one apex of glorious delightsomeness," concluded Mr. Jones in an ecstatic burst of poetic fervor.

Summer School Opens June 10

Student Enrollment Will Decrease Little During Short Session

With beginning date scheduled for June 10, five days after the end of spring semester, the summer session will attract more than 1000 students, enrollment officials estimated today.

In order to take regular class assignments June 11, all students should complete registration by June 10. Matriculation after the first week will cost the late-comer the right to take the maximum number of courses.

Nine semester hours is considered a normal amount of work to be carried by each student, although some will be allowed to schedule 12. Graduate students may carry only nine hours.

Morning Classes

Classes will convene one hour five days each week, and except for laboratories, late afternoons will be free. Courses of study will be almost identical with those offered during the fall and spring terms.

Many recreational facilities will be available during the summer term. In addition to the three gymnasiums, there are two swimming pools and organized groups who will enjoy archery, volleyball, croquet, basketball, tennis and other games.

Play nights have been slated and a riding academy has been established in Canyon. The college will assist those who wish to make trips to do so at a minimum expense.

Cost Listed

Tuition fees for the session will be $25, and activity fee, $10.50; room and board in state-operated dormitories will be $100 and in the veterans' apartments $25 a month unfurnished, $32.50 furnished.

Dormitories will open June 9 and close at noon August 17. No meals will be served on July 4, 5, and 6. These days constitute the only holidays of the summer term.

Further information may be secured at the Registrar's office where bulletins for the summer session are now available.

The coffee industry is conducting a campaign to educate restauranteurs to give the public a uniformly made, better cup of coffee. The industry has only to check its statistics, of course, to find out that too few people are asking for a second cup.

The Sunrise Easter program on the canyon took place as announced; about 125 people were there. Rev. Landis, the district superintendent, gave us a short sermon, after which the crowd cooked and ate breakfast. Then E. H. Martin filled his regular appointment at the 11 o'clock hour. We hope to make this Sunrise program an annual event.

Lanora and Cordell Mahler spent the week end with home folks.

Little Gale Watson is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kennedy of Amarillo spent the week end in the parental John Stockett home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stockett announce the arrival of a new son.

Gloria Jean Franklin of near Canyon spent the week end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Franklin.

Dinner guests in the W. R. Franklin home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Franklin and five children of near Canyon, also Mrs. E. A. Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Modisette of Wayside. An Easter egg hunt was enjoyed in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Malone and Tom of Amarillo spent last week and over Sunday in the John Stockett home. Mrs. Malone is in a wheel chair after being confined to her bed for several weeks with a broken leg and hip.

Mrs. M. L. McGehee is not much improved.

Mrs. Crow is much improved; able to attend church services.

Little Patricia Ann Patterson spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw of near Groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Graves of Lakeside, Ariz., have lately visited his uncles, John and Bill Stockett, also her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Love, of near Tulia.

Mrs. Maggie Culwell's house in Canyon is nearing completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Adams are to have some remodeling done on their house soon.

The Joe Rogers and the W. R. Franklin houses are still incomplete.

A hundred prisoners went on strike at Auburn Prison because Governor Dewey vetoed three parole bills. For a man who obviously is trying to be President, the Governor doesn't seem very concerned about the possibilities of an extra hundred voters at the polls in 1948.

HARDEN & HEATH

Compare!

What do you think railroads make?

The public thinks we make 15%

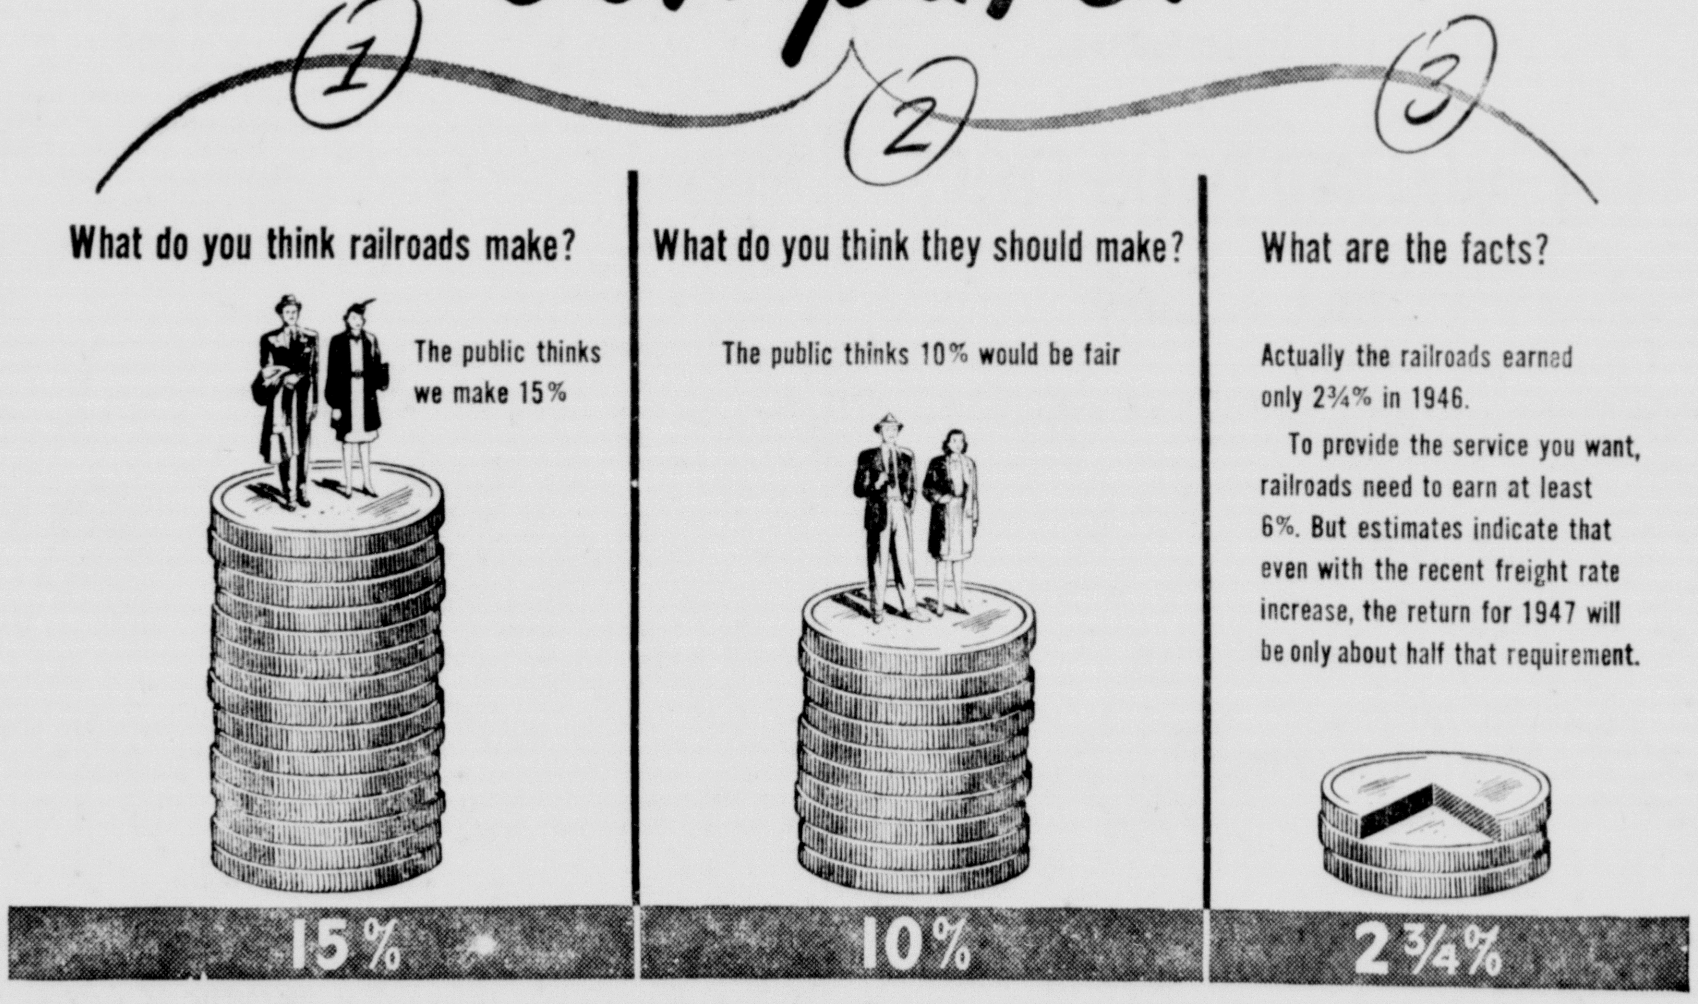
What do you think they should make?

The public thinks 10% would be fair

What are the facts?

Actually the railroads earned only 2¾% in 1946.

To provide the service you want, railroads need to earn at least 6%. But estimates indicate that even with the recent freight rate increase, the return for 1947 will be only about half that requirement.



Why it takes 6% to make the grade...

Impartial research polls show that, on the average, people think we make 15%. They also think a fair return would be 10%.

What We Make

But for the year 1946, with the biggest peace-time traffic in history, the railroads earned only . . . 2¾%. This is less than one-half the comparable earnings for other industries.

The reasons for this low return are not hard to find. Since 1939 railroad wages have increased 52⁶⁄₁₀% and the prices of fuel, materials and supplies have gone up 61⁶⁄₁₀%.

But freight rates have just recently been increased an average of only 17⁶⁄₁₀%—a year after the effective date of the last big wage increase.

What About This Year?

It is estimated that the return for 1947, even with the recent freight rate increase, will be only about half the 6% minimum return required to provide the improvements and service needed. This will be because of increased costs of materials and supplies; because certain wage increases granted in 1946 were in effect for only part of 1946 but will be in effect for all of 1947; because of increased special payroll taxes on railroads; and because of a decline in passenger business.

What Does This Mean To You?

The answer is "Plenty!" Your standard of living is the highest in the world because of MASS PRODUCTION. But mass production would not be possible without MASS TRANSPORTATION, which the railroads provide at low cost.

Why 6% Is Needed

The kind of service your standard of living requires takes a lot of money for new equipment and improvements. To carry out the post-war improvement program for better equipment, tracks, terminals and modern safety devices, a minimum return of 6% is needed.

So when the railroads make only 2¾ cents on each $1.00 of their net property investment, it concerns you.*

The funds for future new equipment and improvements must come from railroad earnings and also from investors. They will furnish money on reasonable terms only if they have confidence in the future earnings of the railroads.

You Have Another Stake In This

Even if you do not own any railroad stocks or bonds, insurance companies and savings banks do. So you still have a special interest in seeing that the railroads are allowed enough to do a good job . . . for you.

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk with you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

*On total property investment, the railroads made only 2.19%.

Swimming Good—But Swimmers Are Warned of Danger

Some timely advice to vacationists concerning the proper precautions to be used in water sports now that swimming pools are open, was released from the State Health Department today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Vacation days are apt to include excursions and picnics at nearby lakes, rivers, and ponds of unfamiliar depths and currents, and sometimes without the usual lifeguard supervision associated with bathing beaches and commercial swimming pools.

"Swimming and water sports are beneficial to good health provided one's physical condition justifies this type of exercise," Dr. Cox asserted; "nevertheless, they possess dangerous possibilities if the rules of safety, through carelessness or thoughtlessness, are disregarded."

The State Health Officer outlined the following simple rules for bathing and swimming in safety: when swimming, be alert and careful of unknown depths and currents; at least one hour should elapse after a meal before entering the water; upon the first indication of fatigue, come ashore and call it a day; if you become chilled, leave the water immediately; do not enter the water when overheated; learn to float, this is most important; never attempt to rock a boat in a spirit of fun; never swim in water that may be polluted. Swimming close to or even a few miles below sewage outlets is inviting the possibility of acquiring disease.

"Excursions, picnics, and swimming parties contribute much to a healthy, happy, normal life, which is always desirable," Dr. Cox said. "It is by no means advisable to iliminate these excursions from our summer program, but it is important that they prove beneficial and not disastrous."
